Mr. Bayly is a native of Pennsylvania and was appointed from that State to a clerkship in the Pension Office almost twenty years ago, beginning at the bottom of the ladder and steadily working toward the top. That he has filled it well is attested by the esteem and confidence with which he is held by the higher cf-ficials, as well as the popularity he enjoys among the employes of the bureau.

The men of the different branches of the Government service who have known and worked with Lieutenant Jarvis cannot speak too highly of his ability and valor. "Jarvis!" they say, when his name or accomplishments are mentioned. "Why, there isn't a finer man in the service than Jarvis." An official who was in the northern service with him once said, in a clever jest: "I believe that there are only ern service with him once said, in a clever jest: "I believe that there are only two absolutely honest men in the Government service-Dave Jarvis and myselfand I am beginning to have doubts about one of these, but no one will ever doubt Jarvis." Lieutenant Jarvis is the man who astonished the Government and the world in 1898 with his rescue of the shipwrecked whalers at Point Barrow. It was he who made the journey of over 2,000 miles on foot through the ice and snow of an Arctic winter and accomplished their relief.

tic winter and accomplished their relief.

In November, 1897, there was brought to the attention of the President, by the Chamber of Commerce and the people of San Francisco, the fact that eight vessels of the waiting fleet were caught in the ice in the vicinity of Point Barrow and that their crews were in great danger of starvation. The danger was so imminent and serious, and the necessity of relief so urgent that President McKinley immediately ordered an expedition to be fitted out and sent to their aid. Little hope was held by those who who their who intelligent audience. The subject, who "Prof. Pearson's Heresy," was discussed at length in a perfectly impartial and at length in a perfectly impartial and the showed at the subject, who showed a thorough knowledge of the facts that led to the expulsion of the professor trary from his chair in the Northwestern Unition to be fitted out and sent to their aid. Little hope was held by those who were experienced in the work in the Arctic regions that anything could be accomplished by an expedition in the winter season, but by order of the President and under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, the United States revenue cutter Bear was fitted out and sent on the attempt, in command of Capt. Francis Tuttle.

The Bear moved as far north as Nelson sisting officers, and made his way north, through the greatest hardships and suf-fering, to the rescue of the benighted men. His report, though without an inkling of complaint, shows the almost impossibility of the journey and the trials that were undergone. The greater part of the trip was made by himself and one other white man, Surgeon S. J. Call, one other white man, Surgeon S. J. Call, and the speed with which it was accomplished, and its accomplishment alone, are a marvel of the century.

When he reached Point Barrow, he brought order out of the chaos which existed among the almost starved men, and managed their food supplies and affairs so perfectly that, with one exception, the entire number, 285, were saved until the Bear could finally make her way to their heip.

This feat was considered marvelous, and on of the higher officials of the Treasur Department said, in speaking of it today of his experience with the lunatic.

It seems that a man named Farr suddenly appeared at the postoffice building and engaged one of the private mail boxes for his correspondence, stating that he was from Kansas, and that he was "going to revolutionize the world with a great patent." Nothing was seen of him for several days, but finally and the second of the lunatic.

The force of the Treasury Department is still very busy with the putting through of the tobacco rebates. Mr. Alles, Assistant Secretary of the department, said the other day: "It seems to me that we are paying $13 to every man, woman, or child in the United States who does, or ever did, smoke or chew tobacco."

Mr. Clarence R. A young man of this self-important type entered the door, with a good deal of bluster, and, stamping the water from his heavy shoes, demanded: "Where'll I find the Attorney General—in here?" He placed his hand on the knob of the door of the anteroom and started to enter into the presence of General Knox without further ceremony.

Vacation time is still a long ways of for most of the department workers, and the present time is almost the height of the busy season for Uncle Sam's employes. Grau Company's Income This Season Unprecedented.

Eleven Weeks in the Metropolis Furnish Great Profits to the Management-Reorganization Is Planned-Change to Be Made at Expiration of Lease.

NEW YORK, March 10 .- America is found in the history of the Grau Opera Company this season, for it has partaken Mr. Maurice Grau does not wish to give figures, but a conservative estimate made yesterday by one in a position to tell Portuguese safe was a complete wreck, was that the receipts of the season of and fell to pieces when touched. Its con-

By $260,000 this exceeds the receipts of safes the last season, with only two weeks more time altogether, and six weeks less time in the metropolis. It is an average of more than $50,000 a week, with possibilities of a still greater average when the full returns come in from Boston,

Philadelphia, Pittsburg, and Chicago. The part New York played in making this total is signalized by the fact that Mr. Grau has decided that eleven weeks is too little to give to this city, and has decided to make the next season here seventeen weeks

He did not have certainty of financial ccess, in fact, until he brought the company into New York. In the beginning of the season Albany, Syracuse, Buffalo, Montreal, and Toronto did not give the encouragement expected and it was not until the company began the Southern tour that profits were in sight.

The improvement, began then, contin ued, and despite the illness of most of his prima donnas the Pacific Coast gave a warm reception to Mr. Grau's singers Though the continued ill-fortune croubled him on the way back, he was able to come into New York with a comfortable

But New York did not show warmth immediately after the opening here, and there was some fear that the season was not to be a brilliant one. After two week of something approaching indifference however, there came a wave of enthusiasm that continued to the end. Wherea last season there were frequent occasions when many seats were to be had for vari-ous performances, that was the rule very seldom after the first three weeks this

No Figures on Gala Night.

Practically all the operas presented by be had on the gala performance to Prince Henry, but the profits were large. One of the surprises of the season was the pat ronage of the Wagner cycle. There had been many assertions that the taste for Wagner had lessened, and that there would be indifferent support of such a cycle. The attendance at all the "Ring" performances, however, was in accord with that at the other operas.

It is evident from the figures given of receipts that a handsome dividend will be dealered by the Crowners and the code of the cod declared by the Grau company at the end of the season. No dividend was declared not certain that the opera was entirely accountable for that. It can be said safely, however, that there was no loss Expenses will not be neavier this season than last it is understood. While Mme. Calve, M. Alvarez, and Signor de Marchi have been added to the company, Mme. Melba, M. Edouard de Reszke and M. Plancon are absent. Otherwise there has to revolutionize the world with a great patent." Nothing was seen of him for several days, but finally he appeared to obtain the mail, or rather to find his box empty, and then it was that attention was attracted to the stranger.

Farr commenced by serding a special delivery letter to the chief clerk of the Interior Department, which he followed by another and another, until he had sent seven of the special letters as fast as he would write them, and until the chief clerk of the Interior put a stop to the proceeding by telephoning to the postbeen nothing except the gala performance to increase this account.

Company to Be Reorganized.

It will be a bit of news in the operation world, by the way, that at the end of the next season the Grau Opera Company, which has placed opera on a sound basis will go out of existence. The lease on the Metropolitan will expire at that time

Mr. Grau was asked yesterday whether the company would be continued. He said it would not in its present form, but that a reorganization of some kind would be effected. What its nature would be has not been determined yet, he declared. It is known that Mr. Grau has been in consultation recently with prominent men who are interested in the success of the opera and that important plans have been discussed for a new organization. It is possible that when a new management is effected that there will be some important changes in methods relating to road tours and that New York will be made the chief and aim of the manage-

SURVEYOR'S OFFICE FEES.

Mr. Looker Submits an Amendment to the Present Regulations.

Mr. Henry B. Looker, the District Sureyor, has forwarded to the Commissioners the draft of an amendment to the regulations governing fees charged for the work of the Surveyor's Office. Mr. Looker explains that the proposed changes are made necessary by section 27 of the revised building regulations. The following is the amendment:

"In the case of surveys made under section 27 of the building regulations, a charge of $1 for each building will be made for locating and certification of the position of the division walls thereof, provided that the lot containing the said building or the two extreme lots including a block of buildings shall have been previously surveyed by the Surveyor's previously surveyed by the Surveyor's Office within a period of six months, the Omee within a period of six months, the marks of the survey being still available. "In case of the necessity of restoration of such marks a charge of $2 will be made for each of the buildings at the ends of a block of buildings, unless the marks for either of the corners of the square must be also restored, in which case the usual charges of a resurvey will be mode. usual charges of a resurvey will be made, "The above charges affect the city of Washington. In all other parts of the District $1.50 and $3 will be charged in lieu of $1 and $2, respectively."

A Musical Entertainment.

A musical entertainment next Thursday night will be the feature of the Men's Club, of the Pro-Cathedral of St. Mark. Judge Anderson, it was expected, would be present, and lecture, but his absence from the city has caused a change to be made in the programme.
